Reward of $25 for Missing Coyote

A reward of $25 for the capture or death of the coyote that escaped from the Franklin Park Zoo is offered by the Boston Evening American. The animal is still at large after three days of searching by the police and employees of the Park Department. Not a trace has been found. The finder should call a policeman, give him or her name and address and also notify the Boston Evening American by telephone immediately. Because of the danger to children in the roaming at large of an animal that only a few weeks ago was fed and wild on the banks along the Mexican border, the Boston Evening American offers the reward.

FR. CORRIGAN SEES PLOT IN WORLD COURT

Boston, Jan. 18.—(Special to the American.)—Fr. Corrigan, Jr., of Boston College, today assailed the United States' attitude toward the World Court during an address before the Boston Central Labor Union.

He predicted the "role and importance of the United States for the next fifty years for private inferences through the saddling of European individuals onto us if the present efforts to transform this country into the World Court cannot be stopped."

THREAT TO BOLIVIA

The present attitude to place the closure on the U. S. Senate was characterized by Father Corrigan as "one of the most colossal abuses of power." He declared that to his mind the President's position was not solid or true and charged that the League of Nations is building up European militarism on a shaky base in place of the "Universal Peace Court," which has been the "most important factor in our present peace situation."

Fr. Corrigan paid a glowing tribute to the League of Nations.

NO REPRISAL BY PONZI, SAYS CROOKER

Promoter's "Advisor" Says
Report Untrue: Finds the Scheme Legally Sound

Denial was made today by Attorney Conrad W. Crooker that Charles Ponzi had threatened to renege against other promoters of Florida land dealing business here, as a result of the arrest last week of his Boston agent, Calisto Alvioli.

"Ponzi has made no such threat, nor has he any such design," Crooker said.

"My position in the matter is peculiar. Friends of Ponzi had a long conference with me on Friday. They stated the facts. Alvioli was present at that conference, but neither he nor Ponzi retained me to act in this case."

"I had a chat with Ponzi on the telephone. He called me up. I never met him personally."

"I referred to Ponzi that, so far as I had gone in the investigation, I felt that his land business was legally sound."

"If I should come into the case, my chief purpose would be to see that he and his enterprise would receive the same treatment and consideration in this state as if his name were John Jones instead of Charles Ponzi."

"I am not at liberty to disclose the identity of the friends of Mr. Ponzi who conferred with me."

Back to his North End abode, telling as a photographer, Calisto Alvioli, today declared that he did not think he would need any lawyer, and professed renewed confidence in Ponzi.

TWO ARRESTS CLEAR UP THEFTS, POLICE SAY

Police declare they cleared up the mystery of ten thefts in the South End when they arrested Sam Lee of West Springfield street, and Lee Shoppel of Kendall street, Roxbury, today on charges of breaking and entering. In Roxbury court the cases were continued until January 25. Shoppel, police say, was arrested while carrying a stolen coat and at his home address they found the other man. Shoppel is alleged to have disposed of articles.

London, Jan. 18 (Universal Wire)—Sir James Dunn, Canadian financier, and the Marchioness of Queensberry, will be married in Paris, the coming week when their divorce becomes absolute.

Their wedding is the culmination of the romance which led to divorce suits last summer, when the Marchioness of Queensberry obtained a decree from the Marchioness, charging she traveled to the Riviera with Sir James.

Lady Dunn's suit followed with the Marchioness named as co-respondent.

NEXT TRIAL FOR GOLD SKATES SATURDAY

First Event Starts Promptly at 2:30 P. M. on Franklin Field

The Billings Field eliminations in the Boston Evening American Gold and Silver Skates Jubilee Races have now passed into history as one of the most successful winter events ever staged in Boston, and now the eyes of skaters are turned toward Franklin Field and the Doubles elimination next Saturday.

It will make the four city sections in the Gold Skates race go some to beat a total of 220 entries of which 17 were in one race alone, the boys under 14.

All the features that made the West Roxbury event so memorable to 6,000 spectators are on the program for next Saturday.

Large as was the list of entries for the Billings Field rounds the Doubles boys and girls say the excitement at Franklin Field will be much larger. All Doubles entries for the gold and silver skates must compete in these eliminations.

Also there will be those skaters from the South End and Roxbury who did not see complete in the West Roxbury eliminations.

There is little to tell those who wish to enter the Doubles races and are eligible.

First, nearly all of Boston's skaters are acquainted with the various classes. There are 270 yards for boys under 14, 440 yards for boys under 16, 880 yards for boys under 18, 440 yards for girls under 14, 880 yards for girls over 14.

The most important matter is the question of entering the race. Remember there is no admission fee to see any of any kind, strictly fill in the entry blank that accompanies this article and send it to the State Editor, Boston Evening American, Winthrop Square. Fill in the blank and send in your entry right away so that the State Editor may know in advance just how many he must arrange.

The races will start promptly at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, and it would be best for all entrants to have themselves at Franklin Field the two nights.

OUT FOR PRECIOUS 'ICE SLIPPERS'

Miss Helen Maloney of Roxbury is confident she will win the gold "ice slippers" in the Boston Evening American contest. She won the $800-year event and the silver skates and is out to win the final.

URGE CONGRESS TO CHANGE DRY LAW THIS YEAR

56 Representatives Join Drive to Line Up Members in Fight Against the Present Act

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—The action of the Vermont and Idaho Legislatures today joined an appeal signed by 56 House members, urging other representatives to join in an attempt to liberate the law at this Congress.

The committee committee is held within hearing to consider legislation for "prohibitory" before serving on a floor modification.

"The Federal Council of Commerce in America, after its recent research as to the effect of prohibition on the economy as a whole in industry, trade and home conditions stated that nothing by some people as compared with prohibition times is more, and the attitude toward law enforcement and respect for law is greatly improved."

HOOVER'S RADIO GIRL, 18, FINED RULE PLAYED

Chicago, Jan. 18 (U.S.N.S.)—A North-Atlantic attack upon the United States Department of Commerce for "rule of law" in regulation of radio was voiced here today by S. E. L. McDonald, president of the Zenith Radio Corporation against which the department's office was preparing to seek an injunction to restrain it from continuing to broadcast from WJAZ on a wave length not assigned to it.

Knowing that WJAZ is charged with "rule of law" in regulation of radio was voiced here today by S. E. L. McDonald, president of the Zenith Radio Corporation against which the department's office was preparing to seek an injunction to restrain it from continuing to broadcast from WJAZ on a wave length not assigned to it.

Before adopting such a course, McDonald said, he spent several weeks in Washington "making every effort to obtain from the secretary of commerce some fair and reasonable division of time and pointing out the various channels that were open."

Tie a tin to trouble

A TIDY red tin of Prince Albert, to be exact. There's the greatest little trouble-chaser in the known world. P. A. and trouble don't speak the same language. But trouble understands when P. A. says "On your way!" Pipe-grouches choose the nearest exit.

Yes, Sir, P. A. is right there with the Pollyanna stuff. Sunshine, gladness, the light heart, the bright smile. Because Prince Albert is the cheeriest, chummiest tobacco that ever tumbled into a briar or cornucopia. A pal to count on, no matter how the battle goes. A friend in fair weather and foul. Good old Prince Albert!

Smoke P. A.—and smile. Cool, comfortable P. A. Fragrant, friendly P. A. Not a tongue-bite or a throat-parch in a ton of it. The Prince Albert process hangs the "No Admittance" sign on Bite and Parch the day the factory opened. That means you can hit P. A. hard and fast—with no regrets!

Men who gave up trying to smoke a pipe have tried again . . . with Prince Albert! That proved to be their pass word to jimmy-pipe joy. They're P. A. fans today . . . joyous, contented, glad they've found their tobacco. Buy a tidy red tin before you do another thing.

PRINCE ALBERT

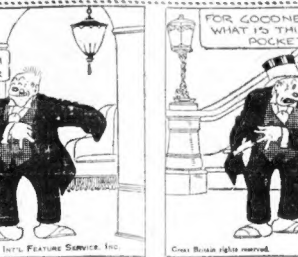

—no other tobacco is like it!

FOLLOWING is an excerpt from testimony given in a bench of promise suit:

"... and when he paid the check he asked for my hand."

All of which leads to the suggestion that if the dinner check was too large he should have reached for her throat.

In fact, there should be a law against these unscrupulous girls with platinum appetite.

As he spoke he choked a bit. There was silence—then a deep snore.

"Good," said the judge, "with general leave."

"Well, no, it's not the answer. We did not want one life preserver."

CLARE, LUDWIGER.

This law, to be known as the Nineteenth Amendment, would make it illegal for a dinnor to order any food other than a chicken sandwich—filled with pork—and a glass of milk with it would be necessary to boot.

There would be an immediate stampede on the sandwich vending machines, thus giving the entire male populace calloused thumbs from pushing dimes therein.

FOXY GRANDPA'S BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

O' course you remember, Scotty, my beautiful child, I've told you lots of things about him and of them.

Scotty ran up on the porch, wagging his tail until Shooey thought it might dawn off, showed all of his teeth because I honestly believe that Scotty smiles when he is happy—and then ran around me.

I think he is a remarkable dog, although Scotty doesn't agree with me on some points. And this is one of them.

Scotty ran up on the porch, wagging his tail until Shooey thought it might dawn off, showed all of his teeth because I honestly believe that Scotty smiles when he is happy—and then ran around me.

Two or three times as it to say: "Foxy Grandpa, wasn't you glad to see me home? I'm glad to be home."

I called him on his head and then Scotty decided to lie down and take a rest. He exhibited a spot on the porch near my chair and then he commenced turning around in circles. You know how dogs do that.

"What just asked Bobby?" "Just a trail—left over from when that family was wild," said my little rabbit.

A few days after that, Scotty
